

Michelle Carpenter Returns to Lax & Stevens

Michelle Carpenter was with Lax & Stevens, initially as a paralegal and then an associate, from 2003 to 2011. She left to take a job with another firm but has now returned to work at Lax & Stevens. Next to having Michelle on the team again, the most gratifying thing about her return was her reason. Michelle finds the client-centered approach at our firm to be a better atmosphere in which to practice. Early development of the overall plan for the case, the cost-benefit analysis of options and creativity in achieving objectives were things she learned here and missed elsewhere.

With her return, Lax & Stevens adds an experienced attorney, who has experience in planning, developing and trying a case.

Lax & Stevens provides a complete range of litigation and consulting services. The firm has extensive experience in construction claims litigation, commercial litigation and employment issues. The firm's practice focuses primarily on the representation of general contractors and large subcontractors.
